SEASON FUEL WOOD GET BETTER RESULTS

Fuel wood, if seasoned at least three months, will lose nearly 60 percent of its moisture and be much more valuable as a coal substitute, foresters at the Ohio Experiment Station state. Green wood cut during September and October will lose a large proportion of its moisture before winter sets in. Farmers and village people depending on wood for fuel during winter months will secure better results from wood as a fuel if the seasoning period is observed, the foresters say.

Trees cut in September or October will lose a considerable portion of their moisture, as the drying up of the leaves will draw sap from the live wood. Then, when the timber is vent into stove or cord-wood lengths, more moisture is forced out of the wood by the alternate freezing and thawing. This plan of cutting wood is recommended when farm crops demand much attention during the early autumn.

PHONE BOOST UP TO U. S.

Postmaster General Burleson, called by Gov. Cox on long distance telephone Friday gave assurance of prompt and careful attention of Ohio complaints against his order recently requiring telephone companies to charge $5 to $15 installation fees.

The postmaster general's assurance disposes for the time being of plans for a suit to test his authority to fix such fees.

METHODIST CHURCH ASSIGNED NEW PASTOR

Much to the regret of the members of his pastorate, as well as the people of Medina generally, Rev. S. F. Ross, pastor of the M. E. church for the past two years, has been transferred to the Methodist church at Wadsworth, by action of the annual conference held in Cleveland the past week. He will be succeeded by Rev. W. H. Bryenton of Dalton.

Rev. Ross has been a power in his church and the members sense deeply his removal. As a public-spirited citizen he likewise will be missed as a loyal and tireless worker in the public activities of the community. Rev. Ross is a man of unusual ability and the church and people of Wadsworth are to be congratulated upon his being assigned to that field.

Rev. Bryenton is no stranger to Medina county people, he having been pastor of the Brunswick church several years ago, where he served with success. A brother, Christopher Bryenton, is a prominent farmer of Litchfield township.

For the past seven years Rev. Bryenton has served as pastor of the church at Dalton, which fact alone is significant of his efficiency and faithfulness. In bidding goodbye to Rev. Ross, Medina people extend welcome to Rev. Bryenton, who will occupy the pulpit of the local church next Sunday.

Other assignments for Medina county made by the conference are: Brunswick, C. M. Gray; Granger, E. H. Thompson; Leroy and Chippewa Lake, A. R. Connell; Lodi, H. W. Courtney; Seville, S. N. Gardner; Sharon and Poe, O. W. Peoples; Spencer, E. B. Shoemaker; Homer, C. L. Lewis.

SAYS GOVERNMENT CAN'T SIEZE STREET CAR LINES

That the federal government, under the law giving it control of railroads, has no power to take over electric railways and lighting companies, is the opinion of President Wilson.

In case of disturbance it is imperatively necessary that local and state authorities take the action required for immediate relief.

Reaping as You Sow

BUSINESS IS MUCH like agriculture. The big thing is the HARVEST, but the harvest depends on the quality of the seed, the proper planting, cultivating, care and equipment.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Robinson decided to have a garden, and Mrs. Smith learned where she could get seeds for two dollars, and looked with fine scorn upon Mrs. Robinson who paid eight dollars. But the bargain seeds did not germinate, and the more costly seeds did germinate—and while Mrs. Robinson was harvesting her vegetables, Mrs. Smith was gazing forlornly at her plot of weeds. One woman had looked forward toward the achievement of her object, the other temporized with today's cost.

It is the same in business. The cost is one thing; results are another thing. The right investment germinates; the other produces weeds—and by the time the RESULTS show, the season is passed, and valuable time has gone beyond recall.

Do not lose any valuable time on that truck question. Buy a good reliable truck from an established dealer. The following used trucks are in good condition and are fully equipped to start to work at once.
